This report checks your offer against Ontario's rules and gives you an estimated range: the legal minimum (a fixed rule) up to what courts often award for someone like you (an estimate). It doesn't promise an amount or tell you what to do.

General information, not legal advice. We've done our best to make this clear and accurate, but please check the details before you act. If anything feels unclear, a professional can help.

BEFORE YOU USE THIS

The important stuff — please read.

Straight talk about what this pack is, what it isn't, and where the responsibility sits.

1 · This is a do-it-yourself report

This is designed for you to use on your own. It organizes your offer and prepares questions — it is not advice a lawyer would give you after reviewing your full situation, and a lawyer may see things very differently. Anything you choose to send or say, you're doing on your own initiative.

2 · Information, not legal advice

This pack gives you information to help you prepare. It does not make FairExit your lawyer and does not create a lawyer–client relationship. Nothing here is legal advice.

3 · We use AI — mistakes can happen

The explanations, notes, and draft questions are produced by software and AI from general rules and the details you gave us. AI can be wrong, details can be misread, and laws change. It is up to you to read everything carefully and confirm every fact is correct before you rely on it.

4 · No guarantee — and the decisions are yours

Any general information here can be wrong, and outcomes depend on your paperwork and your situation. FairExit accepts no responsibility for what you send, say, or decide based on this report — those choices are entirely yours. Deadlines to act can be short; confirm them with a lawyer promptly.

5 · Only a lawyer can give you the exact answer

We provide clarity in an organized way. Only a licensed employment lawyer can confirm what you're truly owed, review your real contract, and advise you. If anything feels urgent or serious — especially before you sign anything — speak to a lawyer. The first call is often free.

6 · Once a lawyer takes your case, follow them

Everything here is general and organizational. If you retain a lawyer, their advice supersedes anything in this report — follow your lawyer, not this document. Do not rely on this report once you're working with a lawyer.

Your offer, at a glance.

The short version before the detail.

Your offer of $24,000 is significantly below the Employment Standards Act (ESA) minimum of $48,606 (8 weeks notice plus 14.5 weeks severance). Furthermore, under Ontario common law, individuals in your position typically receive 15 to 22 months of total compensation ($140,625 to $206,250). Your letter asks you to sign within 14 days, but statutory minimums cannot be made conditional on signing a release.

Things they don't always tell you.

You have a date to sign by. Here's what the official rules say, so you can decide on your timeline, not theirs. Every point links to a government source.

WHAT PEOPLE OFTEN THINK	WHAT THE OFFICIAL RULES SAY
"One week per year of service is the standard common-law severance rule."	The Supreme Court of Canada and Ontario Court of Appeal have repeatedly rejected the "rule of thumb" of one week (or one month) per year. Notice depends on your age, character of employment, length of service, and market availability.

WHAT PEOPLE OFTEN THINK	WHAT THE OFFICIAL RULES SAY
"If you do not sign within 14 days, you lose your right to any severance."	Statutory minimum notice and severance ($48,606 in your case) can never be withheld. You have up to two years from your termination date to bring a common-law claim.

WHAT WE CHECKED	YOUR SEVERANCE LETTER SAYS	YOUR EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT SAYS	THE RULES SAY	DOES IT LINE UP?
Money offered	$24,000 lump sum	ESA statutory minimums only	ESA minimum is $48,606 (22.5 weeks total)	✗ Doesn't line up The offer is $24,606 below what the ESA legally guarantees you regardless of any agreement.
Working notice	8 weeks salary in lieu of notice ($17,215)	Notice per ESA	ESA s. 57: 8 weeks notice for 8+ years service	✓ Lines up Notice calculation matches the statutory minimum weeks, but statutory severance was omitted.

Your estimated range.

The legal minimum is a fixed rule. The top is our estimate of what a court might award, and only applies if your contract doesn't validly limit you.

ESTIMATED SEVERANCE RANGE

$48,606 – $206,250

Floor = 22.5 weeks notice + severance pay + vacation pay. Top = about 15–22 months of base pay, which applies only if your contract doesn't validly limit you. Your offer is $24,606 below the minimum.

Your offer: $24,000

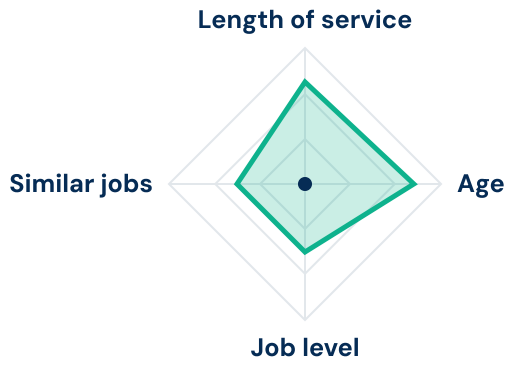

This is an estimate, not a promise. Base pay only: a bonus and benefits during the notice period could add to it. Pay from a new job usually reduces the part above the minimum. Only a lawyer can confirm your number.

General information, not legal advice. We've done our best to make this clear and accurate, but please check the details before you act. If anything feels unclear, a professional can help.

What lifts your range.

Courts look at four things when they decide how much notice is fair. Your pay isn't one of them: it turns the months into dollars.

Centre = works a little in your favour · edge = works a lot

- Length of service: 14.5 years of continuous service with Lakeshore Precision Inc.. 14.5 years is long service under Ontario law, representing over a decade of dedicated commitment. Long tenure is one of the strongest factors increasing notice periods.
- Age: 52 years old at time of termination. At 52 years of age, Ontario courts recognize that older workers face documented systemic obstacles when seeking equivalent replacement employment.
- Job level: Quality Assurance Supervisor (mid-management). Supervisory oversight of quality control teams involves specialized management responsibilities that warrant extended transition support.
- Similar jobs nearby. Automotive and advanced manufacturing QA supervisory roles in Southwestern Ontario are currently facing contraction, lengthening search times.

Your pay: $1,12,500 a year. It turns the months into dollars.

What your shape says

Your chart reaches furthest on age and length of service, two of the heaviest factors. That is why the estimate reaches toward $206,250.

2

Two numbers to understand

There are two numbers in your situation: the legal minimum, a fixed rule you can check yourself, and what a court might award, which is our estimate. This section explains the difference in plain words.

IN THIS SECTION

The floor, and the range above it

General information, not legal advice. We've done our best to make this clear and accurate, but please check the details before you act. If anything feels unclear, a professional can help.

The floor — and the range above it.

One number is a rule. The other is an estimate. Here is how each is worked out.

1 · The legal minimum (a rule you can check)

- Termination pay: 22.5 weeks × weekly pay = $19,442 (ESA)
- Severance pay: 14.5 weeks × weekly pay = $29,164
- Vacation pay on termination pay: 6% × termination pay = $1,038
- Legal minimum: $48,606

2 · What a court might award (our estimate)

If your contract doesn't validly limit you, a court can award "reasonable notice" instead of the minimum, based on four factors: length of service, age, job level and similar jobs nearby. For you: about 15–22 months of base pay, $140,625–$206,250. Courts rarely go past about 24 months. Pay from a new job usually reduces the part above the minimum.

1. Termination Clause (Employment Agreement, Section 8)

YOUR DOCUMENTS SAY

"In the event of termination without cause, the Employer may terminate employment by providing only the minimum notice and severance required by the Employment Standards Act, 2000."

WHAT THE RULES SAY

This clause attempts to limit your payout strictly to ESA minimums and waive common-law reasonable notice. However, Ontario courts (e.g., Waksdale v. Swegon North America) frequently find such clauses unenforceable if any part of the contract breaches the ESA.

To: Denise Faulkner · Subject: A few questions about my separation offer

Hi Denise,

Thank you for the letter. Before I decide, I have a few questions.

- Can you provide a detailed written itemization breaking down how the $24,000 offer was calculated?
- Since my length of service exceeds 5 years and the company payroll exceeds $2.5M, why was statutory severance under ESA Section 64 omitted from the package?
- Will you confirm in writing that all group health, dental, and life insurance benefits will remain active throughout the 8-week statutory notice period?
- Can you confirm that the statutory minimum payments will be processed unconditionally on the next regular pay date while we discuss the common-law notice terms?

Thank you,
Gurpreet Sandhu

Why this works: it asks clear questions instead of making claims, and asks for time to understand the offer.

Take your time — and keep it simple.

Two things that help: not rushing, and keeping your questions clear.

You usually don't have to decide on the spot

Your letter gives a deadline for the extra $5,000. Asking to take the offer home to review it is a normal, complete answer. The $24,000 doesn't depend on signing.

This week — the practical stuff

- Apply for EI within 4 weeks of your last day (canada.ca).
- Write down every date: sign-by Oct 5, 5 p.m., benefits Nov 23, 2-year claim limit.
- Gather documents: letter, contract, promotion note, bonus plan, pay stubs.
- Check your final pay for vacation pay.
- Keep this report to hand to a lawyer if you choose.
